FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: MARCH 11, 2025

TIFTON, Ga. – A new amphitheater will soon be under construction at Fulwood Park.

Demolition of the outdated stage began last week, and construction of the new amphitheater is anticipated to begin the week of the 17th of March.

This project is a result of collaboration between the City of Tifton and the Tifton-Tift Co. Tourism Association.

“Originally, there were plans to renovate the old amphitheater, but engineers found that the stage foundation was in too poor of shape to salvage. This discovery led to the decision to demolish the old and build a completely new amphitheater," stated Larry Lawrence, Acting Tifton City Manager.

The project should be substantially completed by Aug. 14th, 2025, with the anticipated final punch list and close-out on Sept. 14th, 2025.

Barber Contracting Company will construct the new amphitheater as they proved to be the lowest bidder.

Hillery Culpepper, Main Street Manager for Downtown Tifton added, "The City of Tifton and the Tifton-Tift Co. Tourism Association are looking forward to the future events that will now be possible with the new amphitheater in Fulwood Park. This will bring our community together while welcoming guests and tourists to our downtown."
